in the Confederate army, and rapidly organ-ling for the field, is five hundred and seven-fy five thousend, and that this does not reach one-half of the fighting population. These numbers, no doubt, are greatly exagerated, or Dayis would never have consented to call out half a million of negrees. This proposi-tion I learn has long been spoken of in the South, and a majority of the people are great-ly opposed to ft, on the ground that the slaves when armed, will turn against their own ma-ters. tired of the war. Under the recent rebellious conscription act but few men ware obtained. On this account Dayle handerswined to call on the blacks, all of the white fighting population having been exhausted. The arming of negrous a halled with joy by the Abelliannies and others of this city, who altere that slaves will now fight their own way to freedom.
